

PSpice Tutorial:

Watch the video entitled "Intro to PSpice" on the class D2L site. Important Note: When wiring a circuit in PSpice, you must carefully center the cursor on the device pin (square block). I say this in the video, but it does not look like I do it. This is an artifact of the video recording software. In reality, I do carefully center the cursor on the square blocks.

At this time, all you have to do is watch the video. You do not have to turn anything in. However, the video follows the first part of the PSpice Homework assignment which will be due next week. You may find it useful to download the homework document and follow along while you watch the video.
